

DVD-100SDI & DVD-200SDI

Generate an authored DVD from your live HD production

DVD-100SDI

Datavideo's DVD-100SDI is a unique hardware/software recorder system that allows you to record your HD video event and automatically author the file to a DVD within minutes of a live HD video production being completed. Now you can create, author and finalize a DVD master for duplication. DVD-100SDI is designed for those looking to deliver DVDs on site. Simply connect DVD-100SDI to any HD signal (usually from a switcher) using HDMI or HD-SDI and capture the live video. Once the program is completed, press stop on the interface of DVD-100SDI and it will automatically author and write a master DVD within minutes. Choose from dozens of themed templates such as worship, education, sports, and special events. You can also create your own customized templates with the included DVD Wizard tool.

DVD-200SDI

More and more customers are requiring videos to be viewed on devices besides a TV. The DVD-200SDI includes all the same features as DVD-100SDI, but also includes a tool that will automatically generate an MP4 file of your video as soon as you stop the recording on the interface. Avoid transcoding time by generating a proxy file while your DVD is being created. You can have an authored DVD and a proxy MP4 file at the same time. You can also upload the MP4 file to Youtube or a website for play on demand viewing for those looking to watch your content on mobile devices. MP4 is a great format for archiving your video production as well.

BACK PANEL

DVD-100/200SDI FEATURES

- Input HDSDI, HDMI, and DV video sources
- Includes an onboard 2TB HDD for hundreds of video storage
- Includes 36 unique themed templates
- Automatically generates chapters, menus, and other customized features to a DVD
- Will generate a “first play” video
- Includes keyboard and mouse (monitor not included)
- Automatically generates an MP4 file which could be copied to any USB storage device or uploaded to website (available only on DVD-200SDI)
- Easy-to use interface which will author a DVD with a few clicks of a mouse.

APPLICATIONS

Worship

Many worship customers are producing their video production in HD, but still need to deliver DVD format to their audience. Now they can with DVD-100SDI. With an HDMI or SDI interface, you can capture/record your sermon and have a completed, authored DVD within minutes of a service. Before your parishioners make it to the parking lot, you can deliver DVDs on site. With DVD-200SDI, have an MP4 file saved on a flash drive or start uploading to your website for your online audience.

Education

Imagine recording a school play, cheerleading competition, graduation or other school event and delivering a DVD to your viewer on site. Parents would appreciate the convenience of having a professionally authored DVD delivered to them without the hassle of waiting for the DVD to be mailed.